

Teaching, Testing and Translation Team Research Seminar Series

University of Cyprus
Department of English Studies

“Language teaching and technology: Some new developments in the field”
Thursday, 26th of January 2023, 17:00, Microsoft Teams

Prof Larissa Aronin
Oranim Academic College of Education, Israel

Abstract: The lecture will be devoted to the advancements and opportunities in the field of multilingualism and language teaching and learning. In addition to 'traditional' technology tools for teaching purposes I will discuss the DLC modelling and simulation tools. This interdisciplinary direction of research and practices is at its infancy, therefore working on it is so thrilling. The participants will be given an opportunity to participate in the pioneering development of new topics and ideas.

References:

Aronin, Larissa (2022). An Advanced Guide to Multilingualism. Edinburgh: Edinburgh University Press.

Aronin, Larissa (2021). Dominant Language Constellations: Teaching and learning languages in a multilingual world. In Raza, K., Coombe, C., & Reynolds, D. (eds.), Policy development in TESOL and multilingualism: Past, present and the way forward. (pp. 287-300). Cham, Switzerland: Springer.

Aronin, Larissa and Moccozet Laurent (2021). Dominant Language Constellations: Towards Online Computer-Assisted Modelling. International Journal of Multilingualism. <https://doi.org/10.1080/14790718.2021.1941975>

Aronin, Larissa (2019). What is Multilingualism? In David Singleton and Larissa Aronin (eds.), Twelve Lectures on Multilingualism. (pp. 3-34). Bristol: Multilingual Matters.

Bio: Larissa Aronin is based in Israel. She has published multiple articles, encyclopedia entries and books on multilingualism. Her most recent textbook is An Advanced Guide to Multilingualism Edinburgh: EUP (2022). Prof. Aronin is a founding member of the International Association of Multilingualism and served two terms as a Secretary of IAM. Prof. Aronin is a Board Member of Language Teaching (CUP) and an Editorial Board member of several international Q1 peer-reviewed journals. Larissa Aronin put forward the Dominant Language Constellation approach, the concepts of the Material Culture of Multilingualism and New Linguistic Dispensation. Personal website <http://larissa-aronin.com/> Site dedicated to DLC <https://www.dominant-language-constellations.com/>

Please register your participation at: karpava.sviatlana@ucy.ac.cy